FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

The covering or veiling of images on the 5th Sunday of Lent is an old custom in Catholic churches. The traditional Gospel proclaimed on this Sunday comes from John 8:46-59 where the Jews become ever more hostile towards Jesus and take up stones to kill him. This Gospel is still read at the Traditional Latin Mass on the 5th Sunday of Lent (also called Passion Sunday). In the Novus Ordo, the Gospel has been moved to Thursday in the 5th Week of Lent (this year the reading will be omitted because of the feast of the Annunciation on Thursday).

In response to the Jew's aggression, St. John tells us that "Jesus hid Himself, and went out from the temple." St. Augustine tells us that Jesus "hides not Himself in a corner of the temple, as if afraid, or running into a cottage, or turning aside behind a wall or column: but by His Divine Power making Himself invisible, He passed through their midst." The Catholic Encyclopedia makes a clear connection between the Gospel passage where Jesus hides himself and the covering of images of Our Lord and Crucifixes. The images of saints are also veiled "because it would seem improper for the servants to appear when the Master himself is hidden". The Stations of the Cross and stain glass windows remain uncovered.

The exact origin of the veiling of images is unknown. One author who has written much on the liturgical year suggests that the origin comes from the medieval period, when during Lent a huge violet cloth hung in front of the altar to keep the congregation from viewing the altar. Originally Lent was a time that public sinners were "banished" from the church and had to do a public display of penance. Over time the understanding that everyone is a sinner prevailed and sinners were no longer restricted from the liturgy in church, but the hunger cloth gave all attending a "fast of the eyes." (Jennifer Gregory Miller, <https://www.catholicculture.org/commentary/passiontide-and-veiling-images/>)

The covering or veiling of Crosses and other sacred images is a stark and unmistakable sign that something is different. Our churches are built to glorify God and we are intentionally hiding that beauty. This veiling, then, should help to draw us deeper into the season of Lent and remind us of the humiliation Jesus suffered and "imprint the image of the crucified Christ more deeply on our hearts" (Schott Missal).

To take the symbolism one step further: we are made in the image of God and ought to reflect His Glory. Sin obscures and darkens our souls; it is a barrier that prevents us from seeing God clearly in this life or the next (if we should die in a state of sin). The purple veils we use to cover statues will be removed by the celebration of Easter. The veil of sin is removed through Penance and God's grace.

May God bless you,
Fr. David Angelino

DE NUESTRO PÁRROCO

Queridos hermanos y hermanas en Cristo,

Cubrir o velar imágenes el quinto domingo de Cuaresma es una vieja costumbre en las iglesias católicas. El Evangelio tradicional proclamado este domingo proviene de Juan 8: 46-59 donde los judíos se vuelven cada vez más hostiles hacia Jesús y toman piedras para matarlo. Este Evangelio todavía se lee en la Misa tradicional en latín del quinto domingo de Cuaresma (también llamado Domingo de la Pasión). En el Novus Ordo, el Evangelio se ha trasladado al jueves en la V Semana de Cuaresma (este año se omitirá la lectura debido a la fiesta de la Anunciación del jueves).

En respuesta a la agresión del judío, San Juan nos dice que "Jesús se escondió y salió del templo". San Agustín nos dice que Jesús "no se esconde en un rincón del templo, como si tuviera miedo, o corriendo a una cabaña, o desviándose detrás de una pared o columna: sino por su Poder Divino haciéndose invisible, pasó a través de sus medios." La Enciclopedia Católica establece una conexión clara entre el pasaje del Evangelio donde Jesús se esconde y cubre las imágenes de Nuestro Señor y Crucifijos. Las imágenes de los santos también están cubiertas "porque parecería impropio que los sirvientes aparecieran cuando el Maestro mismo está escondido". Las Estaciones de la Cruz y las vidrieras permanecen al descubierto.

Se desconoce el origen exacto del cubrimiento de imágenes. Un autor que ha escrito mucho sobre el año litúrgico sugiere que el origen proviene del período medieval, cuando durante la Cuaresma una enorme tela violeta colgaba frente al altar para evitar que la congregación viera el altar. Originalmente, la Cuaresma era una época en la que los pecadores públicos eran "desterrados" de la iglesia y tenían que hacer una demostración pública de penitencia. Con el tiempo, prevaleció el entendimiento de que todos son pecadores y los pecadores ya no estaban restringidos de la liturgia en la iglesia, pero el paño del hambre dio a todos los asistentes un "ayuno de ojos".

(Jennifer Gregory Miller, <https://www.catholicculture.org/commentary/passiontide-and-veiling-images/>)

El cubrir o velar las Cruces y otras imágenes sagradas es una señal clara e inconfundible de que algo es diferente. Nuestras iglesias están construidas para glorificar a Dios y estamos ocultando intencionalmente esa belleza. Este velo, entonces, debería ayudarnos a profundizar en el tiempo de Cuaresma y recordarnos la humillación que sufrió Jesús e "imprimir la imagen de Cristo crucificado más profundamente en nuestro corazón" (Misal Schott).

Para llevar el simbolismo un poco más allá: estamos hechos a imagen de Dios y debemos reflejar Su Gloria. El pecado oscurece y oscurece nuestras almas; es una barrera que nos impide ver a Dios claramente en esta vida o en la próxima (si morimos en estado de pecado). Los velos morados que usamos para cubrir las estatuas se eliminarán con la celebración de la Pascua. El velo del pecado se quita mediante la Penitencia y la gracia de Dios.

Que Dios los bendiga,
Padre David Angelino

FIFTH SUNDAY OF LENT

By your help, we beseech you,
Lord our God, may we walk eagerly in that same charity with which, out of love for the world,
your Son handed himself over to death.

Through our Lord Jesus Christ, your Son, who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit,
one God, for ever and ever.
Amen.

"When I am lifted up from the earth, I will draw everyone to myself" (John 12:20-33).
