Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

The term “active participation” in referring to the role of the laity at Mass was first used by Pope St. Pius X in a document on the need to revive Gregorian chant in parishes. He used the term specifically in the context of making sure that the liturgies and churches were beautiful so as to help the faithful enter into the sacred mystery.

Pope Pius XII continued this emphasis on participation in the liturgy by stating that all the faithful should be aware that to participate in the eucharistic sacrifice is their chief duty and supreme dignity, and that not in an inert and negligent fashion, giving way to distractions and day-dreaming, but with such earnestness and concentration that they may be united as closely as possible with the High Priest, according to the Apostle, “Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus” (Phil. 2:5). And together with Him and through Him let them make their oblation, and in union with Him let them offer up themselves. (Mediator Dei 80)

In recent years, the need to participate at Mass has been seen as a need to actively do something in the context of the liturgy: standing/sitting/kneeling at the appropriate times, saying the responses, singing in the choir, reading or serving as an extraordinary minister of Holy Communion. Serving God and using our talents to glorify Him is certainly necessary and our liturgies are possible thanks to the service of many who serve as sacristans, sing in the choir, or serve at Mass, etc., but one can participate without doing these things.

“Fuller participation” for the Congregation for Divine Worship does not mean being involved or doing something either. This Congregation under Pope St. John Paul II, in speaking of extraordinary ministers of Holy Communion actually says that their use “is not intended for the sake of a fuller participation of the laity but rather,” to help provide for times when the number of ordinary ministers is not sufficient (Redemptionis Sacramentum 151).

Full participation in the liturgy is well explained by Pope Pius XII. In his encyclical quoted earlier he says that we participate at Mass not by doing something or even making the responses, but rather by having the same “dispositions as those which the divine Redeemer had when He offered Himself in sacrifice: that is to say, [we] should in a humble attitude of mind, pay adoration, honor, praise and thanksgiving to the supreme majesty of God”. He continues that we must “assume to some extent the character of a victim,” by denying ourselves, doing penance, and making satisfaction for our sins. Active participation “means, in a word, that we must all undergo with Christ a mystical death on the cross so that we can apply to ourselves the words of St. Paul, ‘With Christ I am nailed to the cross’ (Gal. 2:19)” (Mediator Dei 81).

May God bless you,

Fr. David Angelino

Queridos hermanos y hermanas en Cristo,

El término “participación activa” al referirse al papel de los laicos en la Misa fue utilizado por primera vez por el Papa San Pío X en un documento sobre la necesidad de revivir el canto gregoriano en las parroquias. Usó el término específicamente en el contexto de asegurarse de que las liturgias y las iglesias fueran hermosas para ayudar a los fieles a entrar en el misterio sagrado.

El Papa Pío XII continuó este énfasis en la participación en la liturgia al afirmar que todos los fieles deben ser conscientes de que participar en el sacrificio eucarístico es su principal deber y suprema dignidad, y que no de manera inerte y negligente, dando lugar a distracciones y ensueños, sino con tal fervor y concentración que puedan ser unidos lo más estrechamente posible al Sumo Sacerdote, según el Apóstol: "Haya en vosotros este sentir que hubo también en Cristo Jesús" (Flp 2, 5). Y junto con Él y por Él hagan su ofrenda, y en unión con Él se ofrezcan a sí mismos. (Mediator Dei 80)

En los últimos años, la necesidad de participar en la Misa se ha visto como una necesidad de hacer algo activamente en el contexto de la liturgia: pararse/ sentarse/arrodillarse en los momentos apropiados, decir las respuestas, cantar en el coro, leer o servir. como ministro extraordinario de la Sagrada Comunión. Ciertamente es necesario servir a Dios y usar nuestros talentos para glorificarlo y nuestras liturgias son posibles gracias al servicio de muchos que sirven como sacristán, cantan en el coro, o sirven en la Misa, etc., pero uno puede participar sin hacer estas cosas.

“Participación más plena” para la Congregación para el Culto Divino no significa estar involucrado o hacer algo tampoco. Esta Congregación bajo el Papa San Juan Pablo II, al hablar de los ministros extraordinarios de la Sagrada Comunión en realidad dice que su uso “no está destinado a una participación más plena de los laicos, sino más bien”, para ayudar a prever los momentos en que el número de ministros ordinarios no es suficiente (Redemptionis Sacramentum 151).

La participación plena en la liturgia está bien explicada por el Papa Pío XII. En su encíclica citada anteriormente dice que participamos en la Misa no haciendo algo o incluso dando las respuestas, sino teniendo las mismas “disposiciones que tenía el divino Redentor cuando se ofreció a sí mismo en sacrificio, es decir, [debemos] en actitud humilde de ánimo rendir adoración, honor, alabanza y acción de gracias a la suprema majestad de Dios”. Continúa diciendo que debemos “asumir hasta cierto punto el carácter de víctima”, negándonos a nosotros mismos, haciendo penitencia y satisfacción por nuestros pecados. La participación activa “significa, en una palabra, que todos debemos pasar con Cristo una muerte mística en la cruz para que podamos aplicarnos las palabras de San Pablo: 'Con Cristo estoy clavado en la cruz' (Gal. 2:19)” (Mediator Dei 81).

Que Dios los bendiga,

THE ASCENSION OF THE LORD

Gladden us with holy joys, almighty God, and make us
rejoice with devout thanksgiving,
for the Ascension of Christ your Son is our exaltation, and, where the Head has gone before in glory,
the Body is called to follow in hope.

Through our Lord Jesus Christ, your Son, who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit,
God, for ever and ever.

Amen.
